AMERICAN FLAG IS NOT DISPLAYED AT EMBASSY

Salvation Army People in England Disappointed Because of Apparent Lack of Patriotism.

London, June 27.—The American ambassador, Dr. Walter Hines Page, came up to be charged with lack of patriotism by the seven hundred American Salvation Army delegates on their official visit to him, but the misunderstanding was cleared by one of the embassy clerks.

The Salvationists made an American patriotic display on this occasion as has been rarely seen in London. Bands played American patriotic tunes, the American colors alternated with the Salvation Army banners and each of the paraders waved a small American flag as they marched through Victoria street past the window at which stood Dr. Page. The chief officers then paid a formal call on his excellency. But in the manner of hunting, the embassy might as well have been one of the big shops along side.

Where is the American flag? asked one of the officers in a grieved tone of one of the clerks. Our parade was simply abase with solid Glory, and there isn't a single flag displayed at the embassy to welcome us. It doesn't look patriotic.

The clerk explained that the flag of the embassy has purely ceremonial duties to perform rather than patriotic or ornamental, and is displayed only on instructions from the state department at Washington.

This explanation was passed around and seemed to satisfy the patriotic scruples of the visitors.

On account of the comparatively small quarters American diplomats without large private means necessarily maintain in foreign countries, Dr. Page was unable to invite the salvationists to his home, and the embassy itself is likewise cramped. A reception in the street would have lacked dignity, so the delegates felt a disappointment in not being able to shake hands with him. They had been rather spoiled on their way over, they said, by Colonel Roosevelt, who fraternized with them, stood in snapshot groups and answered to the familiar title of "Colonel" and "Teddy."

The American salvationists, who have been visiting London in parties, speak highly of their courteous treatment by the people.

$500,000 BID FOR FAMOUS CLAIMS AT TOMBSTONE

Phelps Dodge People Buy Mining Property; Purchase Taken to Indicate Resumption of Operations on Big Scale.

Tombstone, Ariz., June 27.—The biggest mining deal in a decade in all the southwest was made here Tuesday when the sale of all the mines, personality and realty, of the Tombstone Consolidated Mines company, limited, bankrupt, was made at the county courthouse by the receiver in bankruptcy, A. L. Grow, to the Phelps-Dodge company. The scene was dramatic. For a brief spell everyone held his breath and profound silence prevailed when the call was made for bids. It was suddenly broken when Walter Douglas in a firm voice announced: "I bid $500,000." Waiting a few minutes for other bids, and none being made, the receiver announced that the property was sold to Walter Douglas of the Phelps-Dodge company for $500,000. A period of ten days must elapse in which the sale is reviewed and sanctioned by the court before the transaction can be completed.

tioned or disallowed by the bankruptcy court. There seems little doubt that the sale will be approved and the consequences will be the inauguration of mining operations on a scale of magnitude commensurate with the importance of the old time bonanzas of historic Tombstone. For the past few months engineers of the Phelps-Dodge company have been quietly examining the properties, and now, on their advice, the property has been purchased. It is said the deepest borings have demonstrated the presence of immense bodies of copper ores below the silver horizon, and that it is among the possibilities that Tombstone will become a rival in producing the red metal to the great camp of Bisbee.

The Markets

Wall Street Closes Firm.

New York, June 27.—The two-hour session on the stock exchange today was barren of developments. Prices inclined slightly toward a higher level and the Clafin failure, with its attendant circumstances, appeared to be forgotten for the time. The market closed firm.

Wheat Takes a Jump.

Chicago, June 27.—Wheat advanced today as a result of heavy rains in the northwest and of complaints from that section that the spring crop was receiving entirely too much moisture. Wheat cables had only a temporary effect. The opening, which was off to 4¢ up, was followed by a rise all around.

The closing prices were steady at a gain of 4¢.

Drought and damage reports from Kentucky, Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma brought about a rush of buying in corn. After opening 4¢ up to 14¢ higher, the market continued to bulge.

The close was strong, 14½ @ 15¢ to 15½ @ 16¢ above last night.

Oats hardened with corn.

Although provisions at first showed a downward tendency, the market later responded to the strength of grain.
